

ABSTRACT

A system and method for self-directed routable electronic forms is disclosed. The system and method create a heuristically generated routing selection list based on a history of previous routing transactions.